What is it?

A Yahoo Group is an online community. The main feature is an email listserve, allowing members to send emails to the group. Emails are seen by all members and you can respond to the group or to the individual who sent the email. Examples include:

- School announcements
- Items for sale
- Nature observations
- Road conditions

Other features include a community calendar, providing a central location to find local happenings. All members may contribute anything from select board meetings to entertainment events.
